Excuse My "Mussed-Up" Look -- I Was Just Having a Private Petting Session! (I LOVE THAT!)

Furby's fur is messy because our photographer was petting her -- and Furby would not let her stop the petting session! Furby followed her, coaxing more pets from her, softly nudging, and being so happy with each new pet and scratch on her head! Furby is a beautiful Calico who, after 9 years of great companionship, got sent off to the shelter because a human baby was coming!! : (Furby had a tough time realizing she had lost her home, but now she is nicely settled in and happily demonstrating her skills, twisting and turning so you can pet her here, pet her there, now this way, yes, that's right she loves that too! Furby is perfect for a quiet person or family wanting a cat to enjoy lots and lots of quiet cat-petting time together. Please, Furby needs to stay an indoor-only cat always, to stay safe forever! Come adopt sweet, beautiful Furby. She just wants you to pet her and love on her!
